Housing code proposed

By Bill Bagby

GRANITE CITY — Occupancy permits may soon be required in Granite City.

The Granite City Council Tuesday night placed on first reading an ordinance which requires a permit to be issued before a home or apartment building can be occupied.

THE PERMITS would have to be signed by building inspector John Jakich and city inspector Erv DeRoese.

The permit would not apply to any existing occupancy at the time the ordinance is adopted.

Utility companies would not be able to provide service to a structure until an occupancy permit had been issued and presented to the utility.

FEE FOR the permit is to be $2, with a $5 fee for the inspection.

The ordinance gives power to the inspectors to revoke a permit for a building damaged by fire, wind or other causes, or that has unsafe, unhealthful or unsanitary living conditions.

The ordinance also states owners

McKechan resigns board seat

Jerry McKechan

By Dave Gosnell

GRANITE CITY — Jerry McKechan has resigned his District 9 Board of Education seat after serving less than a year of his four-year term.

McKechan, 37, was elected Nov. 4, 1985, to the board for the first time. McKechan read a letter of resignation to all board members at a special meeting Tuesday.

"I'D LIKE to return to teaching," McKechan told the members.

He said he wanted to be involved with education but preferred to do so as a teacher either in District 9 or elsewhere. He said he did not currently have a teaching job but would now be actively seeking one.

Because he wanted to apply for future teaching vacancies within District 9, McKechan said, he did not want to cause the appearance of a conflict as a board member.

"I want to be honest with these people (board members). I don't want to put them in a bad situation," he said after the meeting.

McKechan SERVED as a teacher and coach for 10 years within District 9 until he was honorably dismissed in 1983 due to overstaffing. He was head football coach at the former Granite City High School South for two years.

His dismissal was part of a general layoff of 192 teachers at the Budget projects downward trend unless city can capture revenue

By Donna Kimbro

MADISON — A financial projection through 1989 notes a downturn unless additional revenues can be brought into city coffers. Fred Bathon, city treasurer, told aldermen Tuesday night.

Bathon prepared documents that include graphs of expected revenue, operating expenses and other facets of the city's finances.

BATHON TOLD the council rent from leases in the Stephen Maers

Industrial park will be lost after 1989, meaning $150,000 less income annually.

At this time, there is no additional revenue on the horizon, he said.

After 1989, business places in the 1960s-era industrial park will pay only taxes and no rent to the city for a year period. After 2000, the property will revert back to the city to be leased or sold.

THE CITY can be put on a financially sound basis if the council and other city officials can find new revenues to help meet day-to-day costs of operating the city, Bathon said.

Bathon said the absence of federal revenue sharing funds after Sept. 30, if not renewed by Congress, will cause a problem.

The treasurer criticized an apparent failure to list motor fuel tax fund receipts in the 1986-87 budget of $2,262,632, although such funds are expected to continue.

HE ANALYZED a number of charts, noting that in city revenue accounts totaling $272,569, there is 61 percent going to salaries and 39 percent to meet other costs.

He commented that the city is helping finance the Madison playground and recreation system; he said the income amounts to $20,000 and expenditures total $58,000.

"In the final analysis," the city treasurer said, "the city will be in a negative cash position unless there is annexation, or new federal or state legislation that I am not aware of, to assist municipalities in keeping their financial status "in the black."

PRIOR to the presentation, Mayor John Belloff reiterated his past comment that "the city is not in trouble with overspending during the past year."

"We are only recuperating from cost spending, inherited from the previous administration."

"In fiscal 1985-86, cash expenditures that had to be made included payments for police cars and radios; in the street department were payments for a spreader, dump truck, snow plow and refuse truck, for a total of $119,431.

"There were additional costs for the fire truck and liability insurance, bringing the grand total cost to $176,777."

"THE CITY has had to pay these costs with, in some funds, a smaller amount of money."

"In 1982-83, the city realized

Variety evident in rate literature

By Norma Mendoza

Correspondent

GRANITE CITY — There's disagreement in the informational literature regarding annexation developed by both the city and the Citizens Committee from Nameoki Township.

The Nameoki group's flier is called "Stop Petition Annexation." Committee Chairman Ken Davis said the flier will be distributed to all homes in proposed annexation areas.

THE LEGAL-SIZE sheet warns that annexation will lead to increased taxes.

The Granite City brochure is called "Get the Granite City Advantage." It lists benefits available in the city and will also be distributed, said Granite City Mayor Von Dee Cruse.

The tax rates quoted in both pieces are accurate but incomplete, based on information gathered by the Press-Record/Record-Journal. The figures could be misleading.

THE CITIZENS' flier quotes tax rates for Nameoki Township and Granite City based upon taxes unique to each area.

The city's brochure quotes the total tax rate for current residents of each area. This includes taxing districts serving both areas, such as School District 9, Belleville Area College, Madison County and the Metro East Sanitary District.

The tax that makes the difference is given in the Granite City brochure. It is the Madison County Sewer District Special Service Area tax that is in effect until 1992.

"The special sewer tax is a temporary tax," Davis said.

"WE DIDN'T include it for that reason. We wanted to compare apples to apples. The Granite City brochure compares apples to oranges."

The Granite City brochure lists trash collection as a service offered free to city residents. Nameoki residents must contract for their own trash collection.

Other services offered by the city cannot be tabulated easily, said Alan Ortals, Granite City director of economic development.

"IT COSTS $25 for a library card for people who live outside the city," he said. "And they have to pay non-resident fees for any activity sponsored by the Park District."

"They are trying to equate fees with taxes," Davis said.

Fees are optional, but taxes are not, he said.

The citizens' flier also warns that the loss of General Revenue Sharing, scheduled to end Sept. 30, threatens Granite City's public safety and public works budget.

GRANITE CITY MUST take dollars from other services — roads, drainage, sewers, etc. — to continue police-fire departments at current levels," according to the flier.

The information is misleading, Cruse said.

"We have 60 people and three ambulances in our fire department and emergency service," he said.

"There are three people available for every vehicle 24 hours a day."

"ITS PROBABLY one of the best systems in the state of Illinois."

"Besides, Congress isn't going to just chop off revenue sharing suddenly. If they do anything, it will be on a gradual basis," Cruse said.

"A general objection puts the petitions at issue," Slate said. "This will give us a way to offer evidence as discovered regarding the validity of the signatures."

Slate SAID specific objections were also filed.

"We are objecting that the petitions are not in proper form and

Township files objections to annexations

By Norma Mendoza

Correspondent

NAMOOKI — The township has filed objections to petitions signed by residents of Steelcrest Manor and the Gorbie Addition who want to be annexed into Granite City.

"There will be a hearing Friday in Edwardsville to determine the validity of the petitions the property owners filed," said Irv Slate Jr., township attorney.

"We were supposed to file objections five days before the hearing. I did this on Friday," Slate said.

HE THEN ASKED the Town Board on Monday night to approve his actions or ask him to withdraw the objections.

The board approved unanimously. After the meeting, Slate explained that he had filed general objections because there had not been time to examine the petitions or check the validity of the signatures.

"A general objection puts the petitions at issue," Slate said. "This will give us a way to offer evidence as discovered regarding the validity of the signatures."

Slate SAID specific objections were also filed.

"We are objecting that the petitions are not in proper form and were not properly certified by the person who circulated them," he said.

During the meeting, Dee Stoyanoff asked Slate, "If a person signed a petition and did not understand it, what recourse do they have now?"

"They should be in court Friday and explain how the facts were misrepresented to them," Slate said.

THE HEARING will be before Madison County Associate Judge Edward Ferguson.

The board commended Slate for his extra hours of work because of the proposed annexations. A resolution to allow extra legal fees was unanimously approved.

In other action, the board agreed to accept the low bid from C.D. Peters Construction Co. for the 10-month rental of equipment and the installation of a deep-well pump in the Dobrey Slough area. C.D. Peters bid $2,845.

The township has 10 months remaining on a one-year right-of-way agreement at the pump site.

TRUSTEE NORM HALL was authorized to proceed with the contract pending verification of specifications.

The deep well will replace a test well put in by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Hall said residents seemed to think the pump had made a difference in their water problems, so the decision was to continue.

The project is a joint effort among Nameoki Township, Granite City and the Metro East Sanitary District.

THE NEW WELL will be monitored by the Corps of Engineers and the Natural Resources Division of the Illinois Department of Transportation.

The next town board meeting will be Sept. 8.

$100,000 Life-Safety bonds approved

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

VENICE — A $100,000 issue of bonds to finance fire prevention, safety measures and repairs leading to energy conservation was approved Aug. 21 by the Board of Education.

The school bond issue may raise Venice property taxes between 25 and 28 cents per $100 assessed valuation. School Superintendent Robert N. Vickers said.

THE PROPOSAL will now go to the county clerk to determine the tax rate necessary to produce sufficient funds to repay the bonds over a five-year period, the administrator said. Voter approval of the measure is not required under the Life-Safety Act.

All aspects of the proposal were approved by the state and regional superintendents of schools from a determination including detailed engineering surveys by a licensed architect.

INSTALLATION of fire doors in hallways and new classroom doors in the Venice Grade School and electrical and plumbing work are required to bring the building into compliance with the Life-Safety Code, Vickers explained.

A current 27-cent tax rate for Working Cash Fund bonds will be eliminated when these bonds are retired in four years, thereby reducing the overall tax burden at that time, the administrator said.

The current total tax rate for Venice schools is $3.08. THE $100,000 Life-Safety bonds will be issued through the First National Bank in Madison in increments of $5,000 at an interest rate of 6.75 percent.

Repayment will start Dec. 1, 1987, and every six months thereafter in declining amounts, according to the resolution.

Projects to be accomplished with the new funds also include a sprinkler system, smoke detectors and a burglar alarm hookup system with the Venice Police Department.

In other business, the board awarded a contract to Golden Amoco Service of Madison to supply the district with gasoline for the 1986-87 school year on a low bid of 73.9 cents a gallon for regular gasoline and 79.9 cents a gallon for unleaded gas.

AMOCO'S BID price was for self-service, it was noted. A 46-cent higher price per gallon, submitted in a bid from Venice Gas and Oil Co., which has supplied the school district for several years, specified full service and a 10-cent discount on its regular pump price.

"My recommendation is still the same, to go with the cheapest price, and the drivers can pump the gas," the superintendent said.

"BY VIRTUE that if (the cost) is going to be the bottom line, I will make the motion to go with the lowest bid," Board President Wilbert Glasper said.

Contracts also were approved for two projects at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center. The Granite City Carpet City firm was awarded a contract to install commercial carpeting in two classrooms and a counselor's room on a low bid of $1,560.

Lombardi Furniture and Interiors of Granite City received a $650 drapery contract to install drapes on two windows, also based on the lowest bid submitted.

Arson is cause of house fire

GRANITE CITY — Arson is the probable cause of a fire Saturday at a house at 1410 Rhodes St.

Police arrived at the residence at 7:10 p.m. Aug. 28 and found the building totally engulfed in flames.

A fireman at the scene located a gallon can of gasoline, containing a small amount of liquid, inside the door of the structure.

The house, owned by Bob Grove of 1202 W. Pontoon Road, has been vacant for approximately five years and was full of trash, police said.

Though no damage estimate was given, reports said the home was heavily damaged.

Heating bills will be lower

For the second consecutive year, customers of Illinois Power Co. who heat their homes with natural gas should receive lower heating bills this winter.

The typical residential customer should receive an estimated 4 1/2 percent decrease in his or her natural gas bill from a year ago, and a 15 percent decrease since the 1984-85 heating season.

The decreases are due primarily to declining prices of natural gas purchased from major pipeline suppliers. Savings in the purchase price of natural gas are passed on to the utility's customers through monthly billing adjustments.

For this heating season, October 1986 through June 1987, Illinois Power Company estimates the typical residential customer who heats with natural gas will use 1,245 therms of natural gas for an average cost $60.06, or an average monthly bill of $66.67.

The average bill for the same usage during last year's (1985-86) heating season was $78.23 per month, or an average monthly bill of $69.84. In the 1984-85 heating season, the average cost was $70.45 for the nine-month heating season or $78.23 per month.

Illinois Power distributes natural gas to 348,994 residential customers in 324 Illinois communities.

Arts grants in GC, county

Sam Wolf, state representative from Granite City, has announced that the Illinois Arts Council has completed its first round of grant awards for fiscal year 1987 and awarded $21,360 to arts organizations in the 11th District.

The following organizations will be receiving support from the Illinois Arts Council for the 1986-87 activities:

Madison County Arts Council, Wilder Arts Center, Edwardsville, $17,115 for arts programming.

SIUE Research Office, $3,460 for a "figurative art" project.

And Summerstage of Granite City, $785 for its theater performance season.

Arts Council grants will be awarded later in the fiscal year for individual artists and a number of smaller open-deadline programs, according to Rep. Wolf.

The Illinois Arts Council provides grants and technical assistance to community arts agencies, individual creative artists and non-profit organizations presenting arts programming. "The IAC is dedicated to supporting the arts of the state in all their diversity," Wolf said.

Public to see fall sunrise at Mound

"If one of your dreams has been to witness a sunrise at Stonehenge in England and you have been unable to go, then come to Cahokia Mounds and witness a sunrise at America's ancient sun calendar, Woodhenge, on the fall equinox, Sunday, Sept. 21 at 6:46 a.m."

Suzanne Siburt of the Illinois Historic Preservation Agency said this week.

"This program marks the first day of fall and will begin at 6:30 a.m. in the center of the reconstructed Woodhenge.

"The reconstruction of 48 posts arranged in a circle 410 feet in diameter represents a circle of posts as built by the Mississippian Indians here about 1000 A.D.

"Visitors witnessing the spectacular sunrise from the center post will see the sun seem to emerge from the 104-foot-high Mounds Mound, a half-mile away and align itself with the cedar post marking the equinox on the eastern perimeter of the circle.

"The program includes an explanation of the Woodhenge discovery and function. Coffee and doughnuts will be served courtesy of the Cahokia Mounds Museum Society."

MADISON — School officials on Aug. 21 set a tentative budget of $6,219,045 for the 1986-87 year, an increase of $90,945 over last year's $6,128,100 budget. Expenditures amounted to $5,038,039.

The 1985-86 appropriation for education was $5,164,100, with actual spending totaling $4,424,692. The tentative new education budget is $5,245,545.

Last year's building fund budget was $633,000, with $325,156 spent. This year's appropriation is $645,000. The building fund increased by $10,000, but last year there were no expenditures in the vocational building segment. A $30,000 provision for contingencies was not used.

Elements of the building fund include regular building costs, $90,000, and fire and safety prevention $50,000, remaining the same. Operations for 1985-86 were $343,000 and the new budget sets that amount at $353,900, an increase of $10,900.

A breakdown of the education fund budget shows last year's budget amount first and then the proposed amount: elementary instruction, $1,014,000 increased to $1,010,300; Middle School, $549,000, lowered to $543,000; Madison High School instruction, the same at $781,500; special education, $251,000 cut to $248,000.

Federal Chapter I instruction $314,600 reduced to $321,600; Public Law 94-142 portion of special education, $107,000 cut to $100,500; Early Childhood programs, $36,050 rising to $70,550.

Other budgeted amounts include vocational rehabilitation, same at $2,500; summer school under Public Law 94-142, increased from $9,500 to $16,500; attendance costs, $15,000 down to $12,000; pupil support services, the same at $5,000; Chapter II (Title IVB) $23,000 reduced to $27,000; Belleville Area College, the same at $1,800; and quality assistance, $2,995 decreased to $2,000.

Not in the previous budget but planned for the new school year are: comprehensive arts, $3,286; vocational education special services, $15,540; Chapter II grant, $780; learning objectives, $3,898; staff development, $4,500; reading improvement, $80,000; and Title II math and science, $1,400.

The proposed new budget is on public display at the Madison School Board office, 1707 Fourth St., until Sept. 25, when a public hearing and final adoption are scheduled.

Pontoon Beach discusses improvements, beautification

By Jackie Adams
Correspondent

PONTOON BEACH — Living up to the village slogan of "a better place to live and do business in," improvement and beautification projects were discussed at the board's meeting Tuesday.

A committee was formed to study the possibility of providing a water line to 18 homes in an area between Illinois 162 and Old Edwardsville Road.

Discussion was on possibly forming a new water district to help finance a line to the residents. Cost estimates are $26,000 to $30,000 for the line with a $300 to $600 fee for residents.

"We can't decide anything until we've made a study and found out some figures," said Glen Wilson, board president.

Concerning the appearance of the village, Police Chief Chet Ballew discussed the problem of residents not cutting their weeds until ordered to do so in court.

"We need a new weed ordinance," Ballew said. "Folks may cut their weeds once so the judge will let them by, but they're still a mess the rest of the time. We need to have a stronger ordinance, so we can go in and cut them at a point and then just charge them a fee."

No action was taken on the suggestion.

The mention of court action led to a lengthy discussion on the difficulty of destroying buildings that are unsafe or eyesores.

"These cases can go on for years," said Trustee Don Rea. "The judge will give extensions when people make promises to improve the place, and then nothing happens."

"We've had substandard housing in a trailer court out on Lake Drive. The previous owner was a slumlord in a trailer court and we had this kind of problem."

Trustee Lou Whitsell said, "We've got to follow up on our promises to get these kind of folks out of town."

The current owner is being issued a license to rent only after trailers are repaired, he said.

A discussion was held on developments in the annexation issue between Granite City and Pontoon.

After the meeting, members talked about two annexation matters: annexation by ordinance of unincorporated areas, and a fact sheet being distributed by the Namcok Township Citizens Committee.

The sheet compares services and tax dollars between the township and the city.

Rea said he thought the issue was reaching a peak and that Pontoon Beach had a great opportunity to develop on its own.

"We've just about decided after the meeting tonight," said Rea, "that we're going to have our attorney draw-up papers to send Mayor Cruse for Pontoon Beach to annex Granite City. We all think that's a pretty good idea at this point."

Eye test for drug use considered by District 9

By Dave Gossnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A quick eye test may be used by District 9 school administrators to detect drug or alcohol use in students.

The test was demonstrated by an SIUE police detective at the Madison County school superintendents' annual meeting two weeks ago.

The superintendents, including District 9 superintendent Gilbert Walmley, voted to have Madison County school administrators learn how to administer the test.

"THE TECHNIQUE involves having a person follow a moving finger while the tester watches the subject's eye movement. The eye moves with a jerking motion when alcohol or drugs are used."

With training, a test-giver can determine probable drug or alcohol use, said Regional Superintendent of Schools Harold "Gene" Briggs.

Though he supported the idea of the test, Walmley said he doubted it would have much use in Granite City schools.

"I don't know if it's of any value to us, but we will try it. Apparently the police have been using it effectively," he said.

WALMSLEY SAID the district's current system of dealing with a student who is disruptive or appears to have a problem with alcohol or drug use also is effective.

School administrators usually contact parents, police or "the experts," depending on the situation, when a student is obviously experiencing problems, Walmley said.

Such occurrences are rare and the eye test would not be used often, he said.

But Walmley said he would ask the Board of Education to allow administrators to participate in a drug detection workshop sponsored by the regional superintendent's office in September.

TESTING STUDENTS for drug use was "way down the list" of school priorities, he said.

"We are not a law enforcement group and we don't want to become one," Walmley said.

Various superintendents in the county expressed interest in the tests at the meeting, said regional superintendent Briggs.

"I ASKED THEM if there was interest and it looked like there was nearly a unanimous response," said Briggs.

He said drug-testing would be up to the individual school districts. The test would give administrators a simple and quick test method, he said.

331 complete Madison's summer classes; labs will be upgraded

By Donna Kimbro
Staff writer

MADISON — A summer school session for remedial students in the Madison School District enrolled 331 students in various grade levels.

Richard Spillers, assistant superintendent of schools, told the board of education Aug. 21.

There were 92 pupils attending Blair School for the session, 76 at Harris School, 42 at Louis Baer, 58 at the Middle School and 63 at Madison High School classes.

Spillers said the district's Chapter II application for fiscal year 1987 has been approved by the Illinois State Board of Education. He explained the funds will be used to upgrade the high school computer laboratory, the reading lab at Blair, the mathematics lab at Louis Baer and the reading and math labs at the Middle School.

John Palchick, superintendent of schools, said the district consolidation report from a committee of citizens has recommended no changes in the current districts of the Madison County Educational Service Region.

A representative of the committee will attend the Sept. 4 board meeting to explain the findings in depth, Palchick said.

The summary said in part, "The difference in district enrollments, fiscal and building statistics, as well as general information about Madison County reveal a region marked by contrast and variety."

Nevertheless, public hearing testimony and the preponderance of data indicate that a quality education is being offered within each district.

"The criteria established by Senate Bill 242 are being met and the committee has concluded that the best course of action is to continue the emphasis on upgrading the educational programs on a local basis."

"However, the monitoring of educational opportunities provided by individual districts should be an ongoing process for the school patrons, board members and professional staffs."

Board President Billie Bosworth and board members Ed Dohnal, Frank Eaves, Ed Warchol and Don Garrett approved a request that assistant principals attend a legal workshop on student discipline.

The workshop will be held Sept. 24 in Collinsville, the president said.

Board approval was given to hire Keith McFarland as high school physical education and driver education teacher.

Board members agreed to increase student lunchroom prices. "The cost of a lunch at the elementary schools was raised from 75 cents to 85 cents; at the Middle School, from 80 cents to 90 cents; and at the high school, from 90 cents to $1."

The board hired Mary Kmetz as a crossing guard for the 700 block of McCambridge Avenue.

The next regular meeting is scheduled for Sept. 4 and the second meeting of the month has been changed from Sept. 15 to Sept. 25 for a public hearing and final adoption of the district's 1986-87 budget.

Careful driving urged as area schools open

Schools open — drive carefully. Motorists should give special attention to safe driving procedures as children return to school at summer's end, cautions the AAA-Auto Club of Missouri.

In its annual "Schools Open" program, designed to make drivers especially aware of children going to and from school, the AAA is urging motorists to give a second thought to a second look at the hundreds of school children they will encounter.

Children are active, inquisitive and impetuous, and never miss an opportunity to explore something that interests them — even if it means venturing into the street, a spokesman said.

The "dart out" or sudden appearance of a child in the path of a moving vehicle is one of the most common causes of traffic accidents involving children. To reduce child pedestrian accident potential, drivers should pay closer attention to parked cars, shrubbery, or other similar vision obstructions.

Many children know little of pedestrian safety rules, and even those that do are likely to forget them in pursuit of a rolling ball or a wind-tossed soccer ball.

School children generally depend on motorists to exercise safe driving practices, and area motorists should be especially alert for children traveling on foot, on bicycles, and boarding or alighting from school buses, the AAA said.

The AAA offers these safety reminders for motorists:

• When in school zones, watch for reduced speed limit signs that become effective when classes are in session.

• Remember the law about stopping before passing or overtaking a school bus stopped to pick up or discharge children.

• Watch for youngsters riding bicycles. They may appear suddenly from a blind spot near your car.

• If you are a parent, help your child map out his or her safest way to school. And remember that traffic hazards near schools multiply when children are dropped off and picked up in family cars.

• Remember that school traffic controls such as stop signs, traffic signals, and adult crossing guards are now operating. Our summer driving habits must change to look for and obey these special controls.

• Anticipate the actions of youngsters and be ready for anything by reducing speeds in areas where children are present.

Illinois also may reform taxes

If the U.S. revises taxes, can Illinois be far behind? Apparently not.

Backers of drastic federal tax changes to be enacted in September have praised the elimination of many loopholes and deductions. The result, they say, will be greater fairness as well as lower personal income tax rates (15 and 28 percent).

They predict less tax-related manipulation by Uncle Sam. Even when well-intentioned, they contend, lawmakers should not help some worthy causes by artificially making them more attractive, tax-wise, than other causes.

It sounds persuasive: no (or fewer) special privileges, an "even playing surface" on which all can play the game of life.

But human nature being what it is, the "reformed" law soon will do its own manipulating, although in different ways than before.

An example is a bright-as-a-lightbulb idea by Illinois Comptroller Roland Burris. Since the proposed federal law exempts state income taxes but taxes state sales taxes, Burris wants a bit of Illinois "reform"—a 2-cent cut in the sales tax and a higher state income tax.

The comptroller said Aug. 23 his approach could save Illinoisans large sums—not a bad idea from a campaign standpoint (he is on the ballot this fall) or from a practical standpoint, either.

Burris wants to cut the state portion of the state-local sales tax from 5 to 3 cents on each dollar of sales. To offset the state treasury's revenue loss, he would increase the individual income tax from 2.5 to 3.4375 percent and the corporate income tax from 4 to 5.5 percent.

As noted, the new U.S. law will outlaw deducting sales taxes but will allow taxpayers to deduct state income taxes when filling out their federal returns.

A family of four earning $20,000 a year and spending $10,000 on items subject to sales taxes would save $40 under the Burris plan. A family with $50,000 income, spending $20,000 on goods subject to sales taxes, would save $70.

Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis, who by sheer coincidence is running for Burris' office Nov. 4, thinks raising the corporate tax would discourage job-creating businesses from moving into Illinois.

Burris replies, "A lot of major manufacturers in Illinois are not paying income tax, anyway (which is to be corrected by the new federal law). Reducing their sales taxes by two-fifths would help them. And a lower sales tax also could benefit retailers." It would be especially helpful to stores in state-border areas like Granite City.

Illinois earned $3.1 billion from its sales tax in fiscal year 1985 and redistributed $629 million to municipalities and $430 million to counties. From its income tax, it earned $3.4 billion, with one-twelfth of that going to local-level governments.

Burris said his proposal would make Illinois taxation fairer as well as leaving taxpayers with more spending money in their pockets.

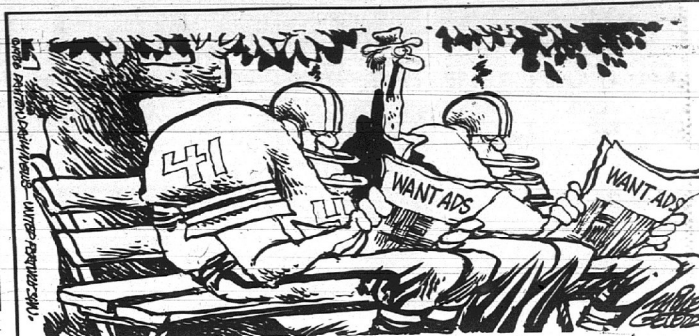

He was speaking as a state official at a press conference, rather than as a candidate at a political rally. But his words could serve as a dual purpose.

"Illinoisans are already overtaxed by the state administration, and underserved by the federal administration (loud applause in the background)."

"We rank 49th among the 50 states in dollars returned from Washington compared to dollars sent. We should change that (more applause)."

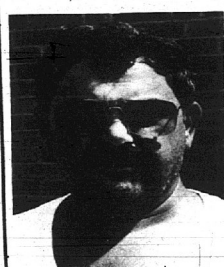

"The proposed sales and income tax adjustments would be a shift of $1.3 billion" going directly to Illinoisans (we visualize a standing ovation).

Whether his plan will be adopted is unknown. But it could be the key to him capturing a third term as comptroller; it already has been endorsed by "wouldn't you know it?"—the Taxpayers Federation of Illinois.

Tax bill threatens our economy says Republican, U.S. senator

To the editor:

I will oppose the final version of legislation to overhaul the tax code because it would weaken the economy and threaten jobs.

I am a member of the Senate Finance Committee, an original supporter of the Senate tax reform bill, and a member of the Conference Committee on the legislation. I voted against the agreement negotiated by the chairman of the Finance Committee and its House counterpart, the Ways and Means Committee.

I argued long and hard that we should delay the signing of the Conference Report on tax reform until after the recess. The reason I made that argument is that the bill has not yet been drafted.

We really don't know in detail what is in it. It was produced behind closed doors by the chairman of the two committees.

I think it is important to find out what is in a bill before we pass it, and I think it's important for the American people to know. If ever sunshine did not shine on a piece of legislation, this was it.

It was put together in private by two individuals, without real input on the part of their committees. I don't think that's the way to legislate.

The agreement made was to adopt a bill that is much closer to the House version than it is to the Senate tax reform bill. I did not support the House bill when the House passed it. I said it would be a disaster for the economy. I do not support the approach of the House bill now.

This bill is anti-economic growth and anti-jobs. It will raise the cost of capital formation in the United States and benefit our international competitors. It repeals the investment tax credit for new plant and equipment.

It increases capital gains taxes for both individuals and companies. It penalizes depreciation of property. It reduces the research and development tax credit.

The foreign tax provisions of the bill are designed to make it much less attractive for Americans to do business abroad.

All in all, it is a bill which, in my opinion, is slanted toward jobs and investment in plant and equipment in other countries, but not in the U.S. It will encourage consumption of imported goods. It undercuts American research and development.

The bill's effects on our world trade are totally negative. This bill is going to be particularly harsh on Missouri. The largest private employer in my state, McDonnell Douglas Corp. of St. Louis, is going to be nailed to the tune of several hundred million dollars over five years.

Washington University and other private colleges and universities are going to find it much more difficult to raise funds for buildings, for labs, for dormitories, for classrooms, for the things required for excellence in education. The bill taxes schools, ships, and fellowships. It hurts charities.

All in all, it is a very questionable bill.

I believed the Senate bill was a good piece of legislation. It provided tax cuts for individuals, and it did so in a way that created a much fairer tax system.

The Senate bill would have closed down tax shelters and required profitable companies to pay their fair share of taxes. It would have accomplished the goals of tax reform without endangering the economy with an excessive new tax burden on job-producing investments.

It was a carefully balanced piece of legislation. In conference, the Senate bill was married to the House bill. When you cross a fair maiden, the Senate bill, with a gorilla, you get a gorilla.

I am sorry we don't have the recess to rethink it and try to make this a better bill.

I encourage the American people to pay very close attention to what is in this bill over the next three weeks, because the House and Senate are going to have to vote on it on the floor.

Who should set policy?

To the editor:

During debate on both the Contra controversy and South African sanctions, a fundamental question arose: How far should Congress go in getting involved in foreign policy?

There is a general feeling—one that I share—that it is sound policy to let the President supply the details and the general outline of foreign policy, so long as it is within the guidelines which Congress believes are sound.

That is good theory. But you get into very practical problems when you start looking at specifics.

Here are some general areas where the majority of the members of Congress of both political parties disagree with the President:

• We believe that we should be pushing much harder than we have for verifiable arms control agreements with the Soviets.

• We believe foreign aid should be provided to other countries where people are in great need, but that greater restraint should be used in providing weapons to other countries. A limited weapons policy permitting nations to defend themselves makes sense, but the shift in emphasis from economic assistance to weapons assistance is unsound.

• We believe the administration's refusal to do anything more than preach pious sermons to the South African government alienates us from the other African nations, puts us on the side of those who will inevitably lose in South Africa, plays into the hands of those who are pushing Communism, and—most important of all—it does not put this nation on the side of justice.

If we believe the President and his administration are wrong in these areas, then we have to do some nudging, sometimes gently and sometimes not so gently.

That's what we have been doing. On military aid to the Contras on the border of Nicaragua, the President has had the support of the majority of Congress—thanks in part to some arm-twisting—but a sizable minority of us in both political parties disagree with him.

We believe the $100 million we are providing the Contras (plus indirect costs of more than $400 million) results in needless deaths and long-term harm to the policy goals of the United States. And so we resist that policy, so far without success.

There is a danger in congressional action in these and other foreign policy fields. Congress can only act with a heavy hand. We have to get a majority of votes for any policy position and that requires changing a few words here, modifying policy there, and then passing something that is not necessarily a good policy weapon. Sometimes foreign policy has to be carried out quietly and with great skill and finesse. Congress has little ability to do anything quietly or with great skill and finesse.

The danger is that we will get into the habit of making a great variety of detailed policy decisions.

I recall when Gerald Ford was

Area welfare recipients complete Illinois' 'Project Chance' training

Madison County residents were among 80 welfare recipients given certificates for completing training for jobs in Granite City Thursday as part of "Project Chance."

"Project Chance" is an Illinois Department of Public Aid program to provide job training and placement for welfare recipients.

The St. Louis College of Health Careers started a training program in May in Granite City for Project Chance in such fields as pharmacy work, medical billing, inventory, equipment sterilization, housekeeping and security.

About 20 of the graduates have already found jobs and program director Rush Robinson said he expected at least 80-90 percent to eventually get hired. "We're trying to position people so they'll stay employed and actually have careers," he said.

The contract with the state requires the school to place at least 52 of the graduates.

Illinois Department of Public Aid Director Gregory Coler was in Granite City to hand out certificates to the graduates and to promote Project Chance.

Coler said in the past year about 37,000 welfare recipients have been placed in full-time jobs because of the program. The goal is to place more than 100,000 welfare recipients in full-time jobs over three years.

There are about 240,000 households in Illinois which rely on public aid grants for support, with 4,917 of those in Madison County.

The department now requires able-bodied recipients who do not have children under six years of age to enroll in Project Chance.

In addition to specialized programs such as the one by the St. Louis College of Health Careers in Granite City, more than 12,000 welfare recipients are currently enrolled in high-school equivalency programs to get GED certificates.

The Department of Public Aid also provides child care and transportation as well as the cost of training for welfare recipients in order to get them jobs and off the welfare rolls.

It will also subsidize up to 50 percent of the training costs for a private employer who hires a recipient if the employer agrees to keep the person on for at least 30 days after the training period.

Public aid spokesman Dan Pittman said the agency does not immediately cut off welfare grants to recipients after they are hired, but gives them time "to see how the job is going to work out."

Graduate School acting dean named

Appointment of Rosemarie Archangel as acting dean of the Graduate School at SIUE was announced this week by Barbara Teters, vice president and provost.

The appointment, subject to confirmation by the SIUE Board of Trustees, is effective Sept. 1, following the retirement of Vaughn Lindsay-Skinner, who has served as dean since September 1973. Teters said Archangel will serve until a permanent dean has been appointed.

Archangel has been associated with the Office of Graduate Studies and Research for seven years, serving two years as assistant dean and later as associate dean for program development and evaluation. She holds academic rank as a professor in the department of health, recreation and physical education of the SIUE School of Education.

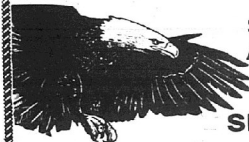

A native of St. Louis, she received her baccalaureate degree at Fontbonne College and completed her master's and doctoral degrees at the University of Iowa. She joined the SIUE faculty in 1981.

Kaisers removed from meeting by police

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Former Granite City District 9 School Superintendent Harold Kaiser and his wife, Esther, were escorted out of the Granite City Council meeting Tuesday night by a police officer after a bid was accepted to demolish their house at 1613 Garfield Ave.

Fifth Ward Alderman Jake Varadian presented three bids for demolition of the home. The council accepted a bid of $2,675 from LTD Contractors of Centerville.

WHEN VARADIAN read the bids, Mrs. Kaiser stood up and said, "I bid $1 last week." She was asked to sit down by Mayor Von Dee Cruise.

As City Clerk Robert Stevens was taking the roll call for the vote to accept the bid, Mrs. Kaiser began to cry.

The aldermen voted 12-1 to accept LTD's bid. Sixth Ward Alderwoman Judy Whitaker voted "no," and 6th Ward Alderman Woody Moad was absent.

"YOU CAN'T do it! You can't do it! You can't do it!" Mrs. Kaiser shouted after the vote was taken.

Kaiser then tried to address the council but was declared out of order by Cruise. City Attorney Mark Goldenberg advised Cruise not to discuss the issue in open meeting due to "pending litigation."

Kaiser tried again to address the aldermen, but was told by Cruise that if he interrupted the meeting again he would be "escorted out of the building."

KAISER AGAIN began speaking to the council and was approached by Granite City Police Sgt. Dave Ruebhausen. Ruebhausen advised Kaiser that he was disrupting the meeting and would be charged with disorderly conduct if he did not leave.

Ruebhausen then escorted the Kaisers out of the room. They were not charged.

"Are we under arrest?" Mrs. Kaiser asked as they were being taken out of the room.

"IT'S NOT fair," Kaiser said.

Goldenberg said Wednesday the city has given the Kaisers several opportunities, under both Cruise's and former Mayor Paul Schulz's administration, to make improvements to the home. The house was condemned several years ago.

However, they have failed to fulfill any agreements, he said.

"WE'VE BEEN more than fair with these people," he said.

Associate Judge Charles Romani Jr. recently visited the residence and gave an order to demolish it, said City Building Inspector John Jakich.

The Kaisers filed for a stay with Judge Wendell Durr through Aug. 25 until a stay could be issued by the appellate court, Jakich said.

The family formerly lived in Granite City when Kaiser was superintendent of the public school system, and had retained ownership of the house. The Kaisers now live in Iowa.

Local serviceman killed

Seaman 1st Class Robert T. Ishum, 22, a lifelong resident of Granite City who was home on leave for the birth of his first child, was killed in an auto accident one day after his son was born.

It is believed he fell asleep at the wheel as he drove south on Interstate 55 in south St. Louis County at about 8:30 a.m. Tuesday. His car crashed into a concrete bridge support at the Mattis Road overpass near I-270.

Mrs. Sherry Ishum, 19, gave birth to a boy on Monday morning at the Scott Air Force Base Medical Center, Belleville.

The serviceman had arrived home on Friday night and spent the weekend at his wife's bedside and got little sleep, Kenneth Ishum, his father, said.

Robert Ishum died two hours after the crash, at the St. Louis County Urgent Care Center in Clayton. Serving aboard the USS Independence aircraft carrier at Norfolk, Va., he was a radioman and had been in the service since Jan. 24 of this year. He and his wife were married in October.

County accepts bid on air conditioning

The Madison County Board has approved the award of a $22,333 contract to Granite Sheet Metal Works Inc. of Granite City for air conditioning work on the second floor of the county courthouse in Edwardsville.

The bid was the lower of two bids received on the project.

In other action, the board:

• Awarded a $12,219 contract to Parke-Downs Equipment Co. Inc. of St. Louis for providing a walk-in freezer and walk-in cooler for the Madison County Nursing Home. No other bids were received.

• Approved purchase of three IBM PC-AT personal computer systems for $18,139 from IBM Corp. The computers will be used in the county's data processing department.

• Approved a resolution recognizing Hays Mallory for service to his constituents and all Madison County residents. Mallory, who died last week, served on the County Board from 1965 to 1976.

Ryan, Quebec official tour Southwest Illinois

Lt. Gov. George H. Ryan was joined in Southwestern Illinois Monday and Tuesday by Jean Barard, director of the Quebec Government Office in Chicago, for a tour of French historic sites.

The two-day swing was to promote tourism in this area and show Barard economic development potential as well.

Barard was instrumental in establishing an itinerary for Ryan's recent trade and investment mission to Canada, with stops in the Province of Quebec — in Quebec City May 9-10 and Montreal May 11-13.

The French heritage in Southwestern Illinois dates back to 1699. Ryan and his wife, Lura Lynn, hosted Barard and his daughter, Marie, during the tour.

The tour began in Cahokia on Monday with a visit to the Church of the Holy Family. Cahokia was the site of a 1699 French Canadian mission.

The Cahokia Courthouse was next. It is a structure built in 1737 as a French residence. Purchased by the Common Pleas Court in 1793, the building became the center for political and judicial activity in the Northwest Territory until 1814.

It is the oldest courthouse west of the Alleghenies and is an Illinois historic site.

The group was hosted at lunch by the Collinsville Tourism and Convention Bureau at the Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows, and then went to the Cahokia Mounds World Heritage Site in Madison County.

Ryan's group next went to Fort de Chartres near Prairie de Roucher in Randolph County. Mayor Laverne Doiron of Prairie de Roucher greeted the group for a tour of the massive stone fortress.

The fort, built in the early 1700s as the center of French control in the Illinois Country, has been undergoing restoration the past three years by the Illinois Historic Preservation Agency; $1.45 million has been spent to date, with an additional $1.2 million in future work planned.

The next visit was to the Creole

House in Prairie de Roucher, a home listed as a national historic site. The group spent Monday night at Giant City State Park Lodge near Carbondale.

On Tuesday morning, Ryan presided over the 21st formal hearing of the Task Force on the Future of Rural Illinois at the DuQuoin State Fair.

The Task Force, which is chaired by Ryan, began its work on May 20. Since then, Ryan and task force members and staff have visited 113 cities and sites in 50 counties. While the hearing took place, Mrs. Ryan and the Berards toured the fair.

The group returned to Randolph County in the afternoon to tour Pierre Mehard's Home in Ellis Grove. The home is considered the finest example of French colonial architecture in the central Mississippi River Valley.

It was built in the early 1800s for Illinois' first lieutenant governor, who served from Oct. 6, 1818, to Dec. 4, 1822, when the first Illinois State Capitol was located at nearby Kaskaskia.

Ryan is the state's 41st lieutenant governor, inaugurated on Jan. 10, 1983.

The group later visited Fort Kaskaskia, built by French residents in 1736. They feared an attack from the British during the French and Indian War.

Officials at the Illinois Historic Preservation Agency and the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs assisted in planning this tour.

2 object to petitions for state pay freeze

Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles said Monday her office has received two objections to the validity of petitions calling for an advisory vote in November on a proposal to freeze the salaries of Illinois public officials.

Bowles said the objections must be considered by the county's electoral board, comprised of herself, Circuit Clerk Willard "Butch" Portell and State's Attorney Dick Allen or his representative. She said the board probably will meet today.

Petitions containing about 275 signatures were submitted to the clerk's office.

Bowles questioned whether they were sufficient, since the law requires that signatures equal to 10 percent of the county's approximately 137,000 registered voters are necessary to place a public policy question on the ballot.

The petitions were submitted by the Coalition for Public Honesty, a statewide political action organization.

They call for a vote on the proposition that public officials should be denied raises until the General Assembly abolishes "double-dipping" by legislators, enacts stronger standards against conflicts of interest, strictly limits political gifts by lobbyists and prohibits "secret absenteeism," whereby legislators have colleagues push voting buttons when they are absent from legislative sessions.

State's slide show explains 'corridors'

The proposed Southern Illinois Tourism and Recreation Corridor of Opportunity was highlighted in a multi-image presentation, "Corridors" at the Du Quoin State Fair.

The widely-acclaimed "Corridors" is produced by the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs. It also played to capacity crowds at the Illinois State Fair in Springfield.

Beginning in Egypt and Europe, "Corridors" surveys the development of major commercial trade routes from primitive times to the present. The focus then changes to Illinois and introduces the "Corridors of Opportunity" economic development strategy being pursued by the state.

Illinois business advantages are inventoried and the initial eight types of corridors are explored. Among them are tourism/recreation, high technology, agribusiness, retooling, new energy and solid materials recycling, retail/office, automotive and riverfront development. The slide show lasts 20 minutes.

HEEL BUMP

Painful bony bump on the back of your heel? It may be retrocalcaneal exostosis, caused by abnormal motion plus shoe irritation. The Achilles tendon inserts right over this area and is subjected to secondary irritation by this bump.

Constant irritation forms a bursa and can cause additional discomfort. People with a prominent angulation to the posterior outer border of the heel are predisposed to this condition. Your podiatrist brings relief with prescribed orthoses or shoe inserts that control excessive heel motion, decrease abrasive movement within the shoe, and relieve irritated areas. For advanced or neglected larger bone spurs, podiatric surgery may be recommended to correct the painful heel bump.

Robbers flee as deputy arrives

Frank Eaves of Madison, who was struck and robbed on Aug. 18, said he did not agree to give two men a ride to 28th Street, as they had requested.

However, they forced him, at gunpoint, to get his jacket out of the back seat of his car and empty all the pockets. They then forced him to get into the back seat while they drove to Venice.

Eaves said that when they reached the end of Oriole Street, he was ordered to get out of the auto and then was hit on the head with the gun.

The two men later were seen seated in the vehicle in Eagle Park by a Madison County deputy, but they ran from the scene and escaped.

State acts against county chiropractor

The chiropractic license of Maron W. Owens, 410 Grand, East Alton, was temporarily suspended Aug. 20 by the Illinois Department of Registration and Education (DRE). The action was based on his indictment last month by a Madison County grand jury for aggravated criminal sexual abuse.

DRE has authority to temporarily suspend a chiropractic license prior to a hearing if the department director, Gary L. Clayton, finds emergency action is required to prevent the licensee from practicing.

Owens was served by DRE investigators with the suspension order. The department also filed a three-count complaint against him seeking to permanently revoke or otherwise discipline his chiropractic license. The complaint alleges his Tennessee chiropractic license was revoked in 1984.

It alleges he requested physical contact of a sexual nature from three female patients and a female undercover investigator in 1985 and 1986. The complaint charges the alleged behavior violates common standards of decency or propriety and constitutes gross misconduct, and that it violates established codes of professional behavior and constitutes immoral conduct.

Owens has been licensed as a chiropractic physician since 1975. The state has been investigating him since April.

A. I live alone, and am partially handicapped, and I pay someone to do odd jobs around my house, as well as some yard work. He usually comes only once or twice a month and I am wondering, since he works for me so little, on the average, am I required to send in Social Security tax for him?

A. The crucial element in whether or not social security tax payments are necessary is how much you pay this person, and not how much or little he may work for you. If you pay him at least $50 per calendar quarter, you have to send in the Social Security payments, half of which will come out of your employee's wages, and the other half of which will come out of your pocket. You may also want to talk to your banker about setting up an account from which to pay social security if, in your case, it is necessary. The Social Security Administration has published a booklet, "Publication 05-10021 - which contains all the information you will need."

Twice a veteran, Adlai pledges to reform agency for veterans

Adlai Stevenson has presented a $400 check to Michael Ferguson, chairman of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Committee, to help the fund construct a memorial in Springfield to Illinois veterans of the war in Vietnam.

Stevenson, candidate for governor, who served as a Marine Corps tank platoon commander in both Japan and Korea, made the donation in the name of Arthur GettelRichardson, the first Illinois Marine killed in the Vietnam War.

"Illinois owes its veterans a debt of gratitude," Stevenson said to a Veterans Day gathering at the Illinois State Fair. "With thanks to all the veterans of Illinois, I present my check to place the name of Arthur Gene Richardson on the Vietnam Memorial in Springfield."

Richardson, a lieutenant in the First Marine Division, died when his helicopter was downed during a search and rescue operation near DaNang on Oct. 8, 1963.

Stevenson, who also served in the First Marine Division, said he felt "a special kinship" with Richardson, "a fellow Marine who grew up in Kirklane near my own home in Hanover."

"I want Illinois to be grateful to its veterans, not just at parades and fairs but every day of the year," Stevenson said. "It is time Illinois had a governor who will take the Department of Veterans Affairs away from the politicians and give it to the veterans."

Stevenson said the department "has failed veterans."

"Year after year, the stories multiply of a Department of Veterans Affairs crippled by mismanagement and indifference, unable and unwilling to serve veterans, the very people responsible for its existence — and to whom the politicians pay court at parades, fairs and conventions."

Stevenson called the state budget "another injustice" to veterans. For fiscal 1987, the department's budget was cut by $689,700, with 54 percent of the cuts coming from two veterans grants programs.

"They cut $161,000 from a grant for payment of scholarships to students who are dependents of Illinois MIA, POWs and those who were killed or disabled in the service."

"They made an additional cut of $214,700 in grants to the Veterans' Outreach Jobs Program, which helps unemployed veterans find employment, job counseling and training," Stevenson said.

Earlier this year, the veterans' scholarship program was transferred to the Illinois State Scholarship Commission because the auditor general found the department negligent in managing the $7 million program.

"My appointments to the Department of Veterans Affairs will be based on merit," Stevenson said. "Only qualified and dedicated people will find a place in my administration. Veterans will have access to the director, who will have access to the governor. The director will serve veterans, not politicians and insiders."

State grants awarded for retired senior volunteers

Director Janet S. Ottwell of the Illinois Department of Aging announced that 22 Retired Senior Volunteer Programs (RSVP) throughout the state will share $294,000 in state funding to promote volunteer activities that seek to offer older citizens a meaningful role in the community.

"Last year, over 12,000 older Illinoisans participated in RSVP contributed over 2 million hours of volunteer service," said Ottwell.

RSVP provides retired seniors an opportunity to utilize their energy and expertise, and it has meant survival to many community service organizations that depend on the untiring efforts of local volunteers.

Senior volunteers serve in 45 counties in Illinois, working at nutrition sites, senior centers, schools, libraries, correctional institutions, hospitals, nursing homes, telephone reassurance programs and local government agencies.

"Their responsibilities are almost too numerous to name — from preparing meals and assisting with tax forms to teaching driver review courses and providing outreach services."

"Many serve other seniors, many are involved in intergenerational programs that promote increased communication between the young and the old, and many provide the 'nuts and bolts' assistance that every community organization needs to do an effective job."

The major funding source for RSVP projects throughout the nation is ACTION, a federal volunteer agency that also funds the Foster Grandparent and Senior Companion Programs, as well as Peace Corps and VISTA.

Illinois has been supplementing federal grants to the state RSVP projects for the past eight years.

RSVP volunteers are not paid. Transportation and meals are provided when needed, and accident and liability insurance are provided. The 23 RSVP projects in Illinois include:

State Community College, East St. Louis; $12,082 grant for 87,758 hours.

Belleville State College, serving St. Clair and Madison counties, $21,669 grant for 194,667 hours.

Gaffner opens headquarters

More than 200 people attended the opening of Bob Gaffner's Congressional campaign headquarters Aug. 23.

Greenville Mayor Kelly Ireland and State Sen. Frank Watson were on hand for the ribbon-cutting. In his speech, Gaffner reiterated his belief that the 21st Congressional seat belonged to everyone, not one person.

"Sadly, the current congressman, having been in office so long, thinks of that seat as his. But it isn't his, just as it won't be mine after I win in November. That seat belongs to you and your neighbors — it is our seat," said the 53-year-old father of two.

Gaffner, on leave from his post as director of community relations for St. Louis Community College, is running against incumbent Melvin Price for the third time.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED

Attorney At Law

Every automobile insurance policy has "limits" on the various types of coverage. The policy limits with regard to the liability portion of the policy become very significant in the event of an automobile accident if you are injured as a result of another driver's negligence, how much you can recover by way of settlement or lawsuit will greatly depend on the liability limits under his policy.

In one recent case, a woman was injured in an automobile accident when another driver ran a red light at an intersection. The woman who was not at fault sustained a concussion, a broken arm, and a broken leg. She spent several days in the hospital. Her total medical bills were $15,000, and she had $7,000 in lost wages. Furthermore, some of the victim's injuries were permanent in nature. She had frequent headaches, and her broken arm never healed properly.

The driver who was negligent had only a $50,000 limit under the liability portion of his automobile policy. Normally, a case of this nature would be worth far more than $50,000, but the injured driver here was placed in a difficult situation because the driver at fault was underinsured.

The victim here could have elected to carry a large amount of "underinsured" motorist coverage under her own policy. This would have allowed her to look to her own insurance company to make up the difference between the damages to which she was entitled and the $50,000 she would receive from the other driver's insurance. Unfortunately, the limits under the "underinsured" portion of her policy were the same as the liability limits of the negligent driver. This means that she could recover no additional amounts from her own insurer.

The other driver's insurance company offered the $50,000 limit to settle the case. The injured woman could have elected to refuse this offer and take the case to court. If she obtained a judgment which exceeded $50,000, she could look to the other driver personally to satisfy the balance after the insurer paid the policy limits. Whether she could collect anything from the other driver personally would depend on his financial situation. Because of the delay involved in litigation and because of the poor prospect of collecting any monies from the delinquent driver, the injured person here decided to accept the offer and settle the case.

Meeting a legend

I had never met a legend of any kind before. The true coaching legends like John Wooden, Henry Iba, Bud Wilkinson, Knute Rockne, Vince Lombardi and Tom Landry are ones I will never meet for various reasons.

But Tuesday, I finally got the chance to meet one of the coaching legends of this area, be it high school sports or anything else.

The people in this area have known him for years as the highly successful soccer coach at Granite City South High School and then Granite City High School. And it might embarrass Gene Baker for me to call him a legend, but I don't care.

Gene Baker

Baker's record at Granite City

1973	19-2-1 (3rd in state)
1974	17-3-1
1975	18-3-2 (Sectional champs)
1976	26-1-1 (State champs)
1977	23-1-0 (State champs)
1978	23-4-2 (State champs)
1979	25-5-4 (State champs)
1980	26-2-1 (State champs)
1981	15-4-5
1982	30-2 (State champs)
1983	16-4-2 (Sectional champs)
1984	14-5-3 (Regional champs)
1985	16-3-4
Totals	268-39-31

Although I played a little soccer when I was growing up in Alton, I never paid a great deal of attention to high school soccer, even when I was in high school. Still, I knew the name of Gene Baker and the domination he and the South Warriors had in Illinois soccer in the late 1970's.

If soccer ever came up, I would just say I didn't know much about it, but I knew that team from Granite City won the state title every year.

And so yesterday, I got the chance to meet the man who made Granite City soccer synonymous with championships. I joined the sports staff here last Nov. 1, just after the season had ended, so my only contact with Baker had been a few phone conversations. He came across as a very nice and very articulate man (he's an English teacher at the high school, after all).

But I wanted to see him in his element, i.e. a soccer field. And Tuesday afternoon he was running his troops through the last 20 minutes of practice on a humid day in the outfield of Varsity Field, which in the next week will be transformed into "The Gauntlet," the site of so many Warrior triumphs over the years.

My first impressions of any coach always stick with me. Some seem a little aloof, some are a bit more friendly, and others come out of their way make you feel welcome. Baker fell into the last category. I had just come onto the field as the team was heading for the water fountain to cool off. Baker was headed that way, but saw me coming and turned around and walked towards me.

He was very friendly and took the time to talk quite openly about the team and about the opportunities he had this year to move on to a college coaching job. I was impressed a coach of his stature would talk so openly (although would it be of the record) to a reporter he had just met for the first time.

Other coaches I have met, although not in this area, have made it seem like a chore to talk to the press. I have been quite fortunate with coaches in the Tri-Cities. They have been, almost to GRANITE CITY — Back for a 14th season as a head soccer coach in Granite City after an off-season full of rumors, Gene Baker says he is pleased to be back.

Ever since Tom Noll flicked a shot past Terry Duro in sudden death overtime during last year's regional to give Alton Marquette a 1-0 win and eliminate Granite City from postseason play, Baker's name has been prominently mentioned in connection with two coaching openings at the local college level.

But Ed Humeke of Lewis and Clark Community College in Godfrey got the nod to succeed the late Bob Guelker at SIUE, with Baker coming in as a second choice. Baker didn't move on to Lewis and Clark, either.

"I would have liked to have had the SIUE job very much," Baker said. "But it makes it all worthwhile coming back to a group like this one. Our practices have gone very well. This is a hard-working group of young men."

The interest in Baker is understandable. His record of 268-39-31 over 13 years at Granite City South High School and then Granite City High School is nothing short of amazing. Add to that six state titles in a span of seven years (1976-80, 1982), and you have one of the most successful programs in Illinois high school history.

But there is still a need to accomplish. After all, for a coach who has brought home six state titles, going three consecutive years without winning one leaves some incentive.

"I go by results," Baker said. "And the fact is Marquette knocked us out last year. There are a lot of tough soccer teams in this area, so it should be a good year. Collinsville will be strong again, and so will Alton, Marquette, Belleville West and Edwardsville."

Still, the operative word in Illinois soccer is Granite City. And Baker knows there is hardly any mark on an opposing coach's resume more impressive than a win over the Warriors.

"Sure, teams still get up for us," he said. "Not only the Illinois schools, but the teams over in St. Louis. We get some attention and publicity over there, too."

The Warriors appear well-stocked for another run at the state tournament in 1986. Baker said he has pared the varsity roster down to 25, which is the number he will go with into the regular season opener Sept. 6.

"Most everything has gone smoothly," he said. "A couple of kids, Billy Alexandrian and Mike Lane, are being checked out by the doctors today (Tuesday), but we haven't had any serious injuries."

NOTES: One major addition to this year's team is Jason Smith, who just happens to be the leading scorer the last two years of, of all teams, the Collinsville Kahoks. Smith's presence in a Warrior uniform should make the heated Granite City-Collinsville rivalry even more interesting, although Baker downplays it.

"He has transferred over here, and we have an obligation to let him play soccer," he said. "There wasn't anything else to it, and I hope everyone realizes that."

The Warriors have elected tri-captains for the 1986 season. They are senior back Dave DeRousse and senior forwards Todd Adamits and Steve Becker.

After a deadly scare, Brandt comes back

By Gregg Ochso

Executive Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — The whole accident is fuzzy and Debbie Brandt remembers bits and pieces of what happened on Father's Day.

She knows she was driving her car on a road crossing just outside the Granite City limits. Beyond that, it's a blur. What happened was a violent collision involving a train and Brandt's car. The train hit Brandt's car on the driver's side and dragged the vehicle approximately 1,000 feet before it stopped.

"I never saw it and didn't hear the train," Brandt said. "There was a lot of (trees) by the crossing and the train didn't even blow its whistle."

She was lucky. Authorities speculate the train was travelling faster than the required 20 miles per hour crossing speed because of how far the car was dragged.

Brandt suffered severe head injuries. She had a fractured skull and a concussion. The roof of the car in order to free Brandt from the wreckage.

"The doctors told me that my legs were so strong that they were probably why they didn't break," Brandt said.

She spent a week at St. Louis University Medical Center, part of the time in the Intensive Care Unit.

"I slept for almost 42 hours afterwards and they were afraid I might go into a coma," Brandt said. "I don't even remember being in the hospital."

Two months have passed since the accident and Brandt is working to get back into the mainstream.

"She went to therapy daily for almost a month at Christian Northeast Hospital in North St. Louis County. She had to learn all over again."

"When I got out of the hospital I couldn't walk or talk," Brandt said.

Because of the impact, her left side was immobile. In order for me to put my left hand in my pocket, I would have to use my right hand to do it," she said.

Debbie Brandt

For almost 3½ hours each day, Brandt would undergo occupational, speech and physical therapy.

For a time, simple chores like reciting her multiplication tables, she couldn't do. She experienced some loss of memory. In time, it returned.

Gradually, the physical therapy moved her from a wheelchair to a walker, then to using a cane. To improve her balance, she would hopscotch and do sit-ups and push-ups.

Another exercise involved reflex action. Her therapist, a former volleyball player, would throw a ball at her and Brandt would hit the ball back — a volleyball — to improve hand and eye coordination.

Her therapy is almost complete. She only goes one time a week now and doctors tell her she may not need to attend anymore.

"My only real weakness right now is that my reaction time is slow," Brandt said. "My balance is a little off, but that's it."

Brandt stays active. She plays softball for a Granite City Park District team. (In a game Wednesday night she went 2-for-3).

Beginning this fall, she will serve as an assistant volleyball coach at Grigsby Junior High. She also works at McDonald's. Currently, she is taking two courses at Granite City Com-pus (statistics and accounting) and hopes to return to school on a full-time basis in January.

Brandt will be a sophomore at Westminster College in Fulton, Mo. She is on a track and volleyball scholarship.

A fine discus thrower, Brandt finished fourth twice at the Illinois High School Association finals as a junior and senior at Granite City High School.

"Both my coaches said even if I'm never able to compete I will still be able to keep my scholarship," Brandt said. "But I think I can make it back."

With the doctors' approval, Brandt hopes to return to school. She is seeking a double major in accounting and business administration.

Her competitive spirit won't let her take this lying down. "I do feel lucky," Brandt says. "But sometimes I wonder 'why me.'"

Brandt began driving again two weeks ago and sees things progressing.

"There really hasn't been anything that I haven't been able to do," she said.

SIUE photographer Cox calls it quits

By Al Barnes

Correspondent

Charlie Cox is about to quits as the campus photographer at SIUE.

Cox, one of the sweetest guys in the world, could snap an action shot of a rough and tough athlete, but still had the compassion to stop for a second and catch a scared freshman in a long line of students signing up for classes at the beginning of the school year.

Last week he was honored for his 25 years of service by students, fellow staff members and faculty and was presented a scroll marking an official action of the Illinois State Senate by Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville.

For 14 of those 25 years, from January 1969 to August 1981, I worked hand-in-hand with Charlie. At first, I was more than a little leery of him as a professional photographer. I wondered if he could produce quality action shots I could deliver that were good enough to be printed in the pages of the St. Louis metropolitan dailies as well as all the Illinois weeklies.

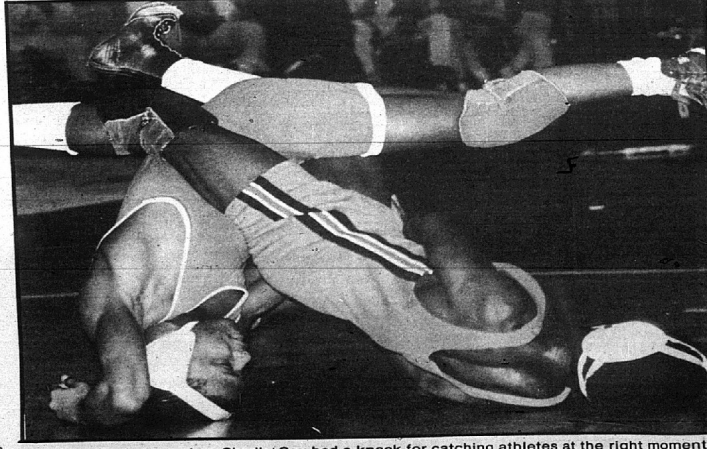

I soon learned differently. But one couldn't have faulted me for my original opinion of Cox. When I first met him, he still had the retiring, almost country boy look about him. Even though he was a graduate of the University of Illinois school of journalism, he still had the bearing of a boy from rural Altamont, or rather Louisville, Ill., his home territory. Like most people raised there, Charlie really never lost his distrust of the city slicker, and particularly one selling any kind of insurance policies. He never bought a life insurance policy.

His standards were high and he drove himself to excel. His pictures of the athletes I covered in my job as sports information director for 14 years were, without exception, outstanding. He quickly learned to take the sequence shots often landed us at least three shots.

Charlie and I teamed up to land the first color action photograph in the Post-Dispatch. At that time, 1972, the Cougar soccer team was scheduled to play an afternoon game at Blackburn College in Carlinville.

Color photos in daily papers are fairly routine now, but that first

SIUE staff photographer Charlie Cox had a knack for catching athletes at the right moment.

Sports briefs

SIUE holds alumni game tonight at 7

An alumni game featuring former SIUE Cougars and 1986 varsity soccer team will be held at Cougar Field in Edwardsville tonight, Aug. 28, at 7 p.m. Ex-Cougars stars such as Don Ebert, Jeff Cacciatore and Greg Makowski will take on Ed Hunkeler's squad, which just completed an exhibition tour of Jamaica tuning up for the regular season.

Lombardi to play for St. Ambrose

Rob Lombardi of Granite City attend St. Ambrose College in Davenport, Iowa this fall and will tryout for the school's tennis team. St. Ambrose posted a 22-12 record last year, marking the ninth consecutive year the Fighting Bees have had a 20-win season.

Baker

a man (or woman), willing to take some time to talk. Baker, obviously, has had a lot of experience with the press, having been in the spotlight when the Warriors won the state title in 1976. And 1977. And 1978. And 1979. And 1980. And 1982. The only trouble with this guy is he never wins. I mean, only six state titles and a record of 268-39-30 in 13 seasons here.

The talk heard most often in these parts is that some schools have finally caught up to Granite City and their dominance in soccer is coming to an end. That might be true, but then again, it might not. The Warriors haven't won it all since the two high schools merged in 1983, which seems strange, since people thought Granite City might never lose another game after those two good programs were combined.

But they've been right there each year, and they could be back on top soon. You get the feeling Baker might want to win one more before he moves on.

Here's to another great — and winning — soccer season.

Ducks Unlimited plans banquet

The Granite City Ducks Unlimited banquet will be held Sept. 5 at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 4228 Old Alton Road. This is the club's third annual banquet. Cost is $40 per couple and includes the $20 Ducks Unlimited membership, subscription and the buffet dinner. There will also be an auction of art prints and carvings.

For additional information, call Tony Zedolek at 877-2458.

Golf tourney at Arlington

The 3rd Annual Frank Harris Memorial Golf Scramble will be held Sept. 6 at the Arlington Golf Course. The entry fee is $10, with $2 of each fee to be donated to the heart fund.

Players in the four-man team event will be divided into flights based on ability or handicaps.

Signup sheets will be available at Smokey Joe's, Arlington Golf Course, the Elks Club and at Granite City Steel. Persons may also register by contacting Fred Frame, Mickey Loftus, Elroy Cueto, Bob Butler, Gene Whitaker or Jim Cavanaugh.

The first tee-off time is scheduled for 11 a.m. The registration fee will be paid at the course.

GC Hockey registration is Sept. 7

The Granite City Amateur Hockey Association will hold registration on Sunday, Sept. 7 from 12 to 3 p.m. at the Wilson

Park Ice Rink.

The organization will also be selling hockey equipment. For additional information, call 877-2317 or 931-5675.

Bethalto to host women's softball set

A women's fast pitch softball tournament will be held over the Labor Day weekend (Aug. 30-31) at the Bethalto Khoury League.

Ten teams are entered. They are Springfield, the Metro East Flames, the Spirits, Gillespie, Wood River, Sauget, two squads from Decatur, Evansville, and the Belleville Rebels.

Games will start at 10 a.m. both Saturday and Sunday. The title game will be played at 6 p.m. on Aug. 31.

For additional information, call Tony Zolner at 831-4536.

QCSA plans Soda Sale

Members of the Quad Cities Soccer Association will be holding a Soda Sale to raise money for upcoming events.

The sale will take place on Aug. 29 and 30 at the Bellemore Village parking lot in front of Mrs. Siebold's. The sale will begin at 8 a.m. and cases of soda will be available.

WIBV to air prep football show Saturday

Radio station WIBV in Belleville (AM-1260) will be airing "Kickoff '86" this Saturday, Aug. 30.

The program, to be hosted by sports director Joe May, will be a preview of the upcoming Metro East area high school football season, as well as a review of the 1985 season.

The program will begin at 10 a.m. and run until noon.

Conservation is club topic

Cloverview Garden Club had a special conservation program and potluck luncheon recently at the Brown Recreation Center.

Edward A. Anderson, district heritage biologist from the Illinois Department of Conservation, was the featured speaker and showed slides on "Life and Land Together."

He implements the department's Natural Heritage Programs in his 10-county district.

He spoke on "Trees of Illinois" which is the subject of study for Cloverview this year. He said trees perform many services to mankind such as: keeping the air supply fresh by absorbing pollutant gases and filtering out dust and other matter, producing oxygen, stabilizing soils, providing wildlife habitat and providing many important products.

Following the program, a business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Ray Williamson, and the club collect was read in unison. Members responded to roll call by naming trees with unusual bark.

An invitation was received from Lakeview Garden Club to attend a flower show in Collinsville commemorating its 30th anniversary on Sept. 13. Williamson reminded members that Cloverview will host District Presidents' Council Day on Oct. 23 at Central Christian Church.

The study for the day was on the flowering dogwood tree, presented by Louise Sedlack.

Dogwoods are small trees, up to 20 feet tall. The trunk diameter is up to three inches, with the crown flattened, bark brown, slight roughened, with shallow furrows.

Flowers appear in May and June and each flower is white, with four narrow petals, it was related.

They grow from Newfoundland across to Southern Ontario and Minnesota, south to Missouri, Alabama and Georgia. This is the only American dogwood with the leaves arranged in an alternate manner, the speaker said.

Sedlack will entertain the club for the September meeting.

Sheila Calvert talks on achieving career goals

Sheila Calvert, superintendent of postal operations at the East St. Louis Post Office, spoke to members of the Gateway Business and Professional Women's Organization on "Career Awareness" at the August dinner meeting.

She also is program director of MCI and the Career Awareness Program of MSC. Both programs are designed to help women achieve and get more opportunities in the workplace.

Calvert said, "To receive pay equity, are you willing to pay the price to be equal? Will you make the sacrifice necessary to get to the top?"

"This means staying nights and working long hours instead of going home to your family, taking the individual and being evaluated for yourself, not just as a woman. The reality of being at the top can mean giving up a lot."

She stressed, "If you agree to want all these things, then start dressing and acting professional, be trained, get guidance and learn your skills well. This is true equality, and when a job at the management level becomes accessible and the opportunity is there, you have the qualifications."

"Don't forget when you start on your way to the top that you should mentor someone else along the way, whether it is a man or woman. Train and guide them, and help them reach the top of the ladder. There is room for them," she concluded.

President Judy McCann opened the meeting, Ruth Nicholas led the club collect and Shirley Rapoff gave the pledge of allegiance.

LaVelle Stephens attended the District XIV Presidents' Council meeting and reported the district is emphasizing concentration on individual needs. Organizations are to focus on a particular issue of interest to them and work toward this goal.

As membership chairman, she announced the "spotlight for the month" was on Pearl Kennerly, a longtime BPW member who has served in many offices and on many committees through the years. She has retired and, during her spare time, enjoys knitting, dining at area restaurants and being a BPW member, Stephens said.

The president announced the club will be continuing its study of future plans for the organization at the Sept. 15 meeting, an outing at Wilson Park.

During the meeting, Ollie Derr accepted nine reservations from members who plan to attend a national BPW seminar in Springfield, Ill., Sept. 20.

Other guests for the evening were Carolyn Frye, Bonnie Campbell, Debbie Geggus and Beth Kovach.

Local DeMolays attend 1986 Illinois Conclave

The 1986 Illinois DeMolay Conclave was held at Western Illinois University in Macomb, earlier this month.

Friday afternoon was devoted to swimming, golf and other sports. Dwayne Tyler won the eight-ball pool tournament and received a trophy. A Mexican Fiesta with a "Pineta Swing" at Lake Ruth preceded the grand opening in the Heritage Room. Later the state officer candidates met with the DeMolays and were quizzed by the DeMolays.

There also was a DeMolay/Sweetheart mixer in the Corbin Hall cafeteria where a pretzel eating contest was held for DeMolays, sweethearts, "Moms" and advisors. Kris Toussaint, James Stuart Chapter's Sweetheart, won the pretzel contest, followed by the sweethearts. A "Make Your Own Sundaes" and a free soda bash followed and the sweetheart contestants from 14 chapters in Illinois answered questions.

The annual meeting of Illinois DeMolay was held in the Heritage Room of the University Union on Saturday morning where state officers and Illinois DeMolay sweetheart contestants were balloted on and selected.

D.J. Bertier of Alton was elected state master counselor, Eric Bronkalla of Freeport was elected state senior counselor and John Blondell of Mascoutah was elected state junior counselor.

Saturday afternoon was open to miniature golf, swimming, bowling, billiards and a rifle tournament under the supervision of the National Rifle Association.

The State Master Counselor's banquet was held Saturday evening in the grand ballroom of the University Union. The "Sweetheart Presentation" dance followed in the Delta Dell room at the Union where Ronna Schneider of Wood River was crowned 1986 Illinois DeMolay State Sweetheart and Suzie Barabacovi of Libertyville was crowned Illinois State Sweetheart Representative. Also, the University Union was open for electronic games, bowling, billiards, and the feature film "Back to the Future" was shown in the television lounge. There was an impressive midnight worship service conducted by the state chaplain and a candlelight rededication by Michael Burgess at Lake Ruth.

The state master counselor's brunch was held Sunday morning in the University Union's grand ballroom where Illinois Council of DeMolay Mother's officers including Jo Meyer as state treasurer were installed by Granite City's Mary Stuart, administrator of Illinois DeMolay Mothers Clubs. Stuart also announced that Brett Carner and Todd Todaro of the local chapter were each awarded a $200 merit award for further education by the Illinois Council of DeMolay Mothers. Both are June graduates of Granite City High School.

Illinois State DeMolay officers including B. Edward Bodnam Jr. as state senior deacon were then installed. James Stuart Chapter was awarded the "Athletic Supremacy" trophy and the second place trophy for its publication "The Master Counselor's Voice." It was also announced that the 1987 Conclave will again be held at Western Illinois University in August.

Film planned for Sept. 8 meeting

The filmstrip "Widows and Widowers: Problems and Adjustments" will be shown at the Walk-On bereavement self-help group meeting on Monday, Sept. 8, at 7 p.m. at the Nameoki United Presbyterian Church, 1700 Pontoon Road.

"Widows and Widowers" is based on a research project conducted by Raymond G. Cary of the Office of Evaluation and Research at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, Ill. The program deals with problems faced by widows and widowers during the first year of bereavement.

In addition to discussing factors that affect adjustment in the widowed, the program focuses on the roles of those in a helping relationship with the spouse, both prior to and following the death.

Walk-On Inc. (Widows and Widowers are learning knowledge of necessities), a non-profit organization, was formed by Thomas Mortuaries Ltd. to help people deal with the emotional and financial needs brought on by the death of a loved one.

The bereavement self-help group meets the first Monday of the month for individuals to share their feelings of grief with others. The group is facilitated by Cathy Nevlin, a psychiatric social worker for 13 years who specializes in bereavement counseling.

For more information about the group, Liz Neely can be contacted at 876-4321.

John 4:24 "God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit in truth."

God is a Spirit. Our knowledge of God is in many ways limited. His ways are far above our ways and are not understandable and cannot explain. However, we have one of the necessary keys to understanding God when we realize that He is a Spirit.

We do not see Spirits, nor do we touch them. The natural man does not comprehend spiritual things. If we are to worship God, then we must do so in Spirit and in truth.

We must be BORN AGAIN in Christ. There must be a new birth. We must become new creatures in Christ, born of the Spirit! Now, we can worship in Spirit and in truth. We can, today!

Illinois authors to be spotlighted

Secretary of State and State Librarian Jim Edgar's Read Illinois program will hold the fourth annual Literary Heritage Conference Oct. 14 at the Ramada Renaissance Hotel in Springfield.

"We initiated Read Illinois in 1981 to recognize Illinois' authors both past and present, and encourage all Illinois residents to become familiar with the rich literary heritage of Illinois," said Edgar. "This conference enables authors, teachers or any interested individual to become actively involved in the promotion of Illinois' authors and literature as well as the study of Illinois literary history."

Dennis Camp, professor of English, Sangamon State University and a Lindsay scholar, will begin the morning sessions with a presentation on the Illinois poet Vachel Lindsay. Panel discussions will follow on Children's Literature, Work in the Work Place and Historical Literature.

The all-day conference will feature Chicago author Richard Stern, who will deliver the keynote address at a 12:30 luncheon. Stern, whose latest work is "Father's Words," is a professor of English at the University of Chicago.

Topics of small-group sessions in the afternoon will be Grant Programs, Adult and Library Discussion Groups, and Schools and the Classroom. Participants will have the opportunity to view exhibits and displays pertaining to Illinois literature.

"The Literary Heritage Conference is open to the public," said Edgar. "I encourage anyone who is interested to attend. It is a perfect occasion to meet and discuss Illinois literature with prominent authors and scholars."

To register, the Read Illinois office can be called at the Illinois State Library, 1-312-917-2559.

Commission seeks input on memorial work

A world-class cultural and anthropological museum, a marina, bicycle paths and hiking trails are among the attractions that could be located on the East St. Louis waterfront under an expansion of the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial.

These projects and others were included in booklets handed out recently during public meetings under the Arch and in East St. Louis.

The booklets were prepared by the Denver Service Center, a Denver-based planning team that is helping a commission authorized by Congress develop a plan for the East St. Louis expansion of the memorial.

"Their (Denver Service Center) function was to pass out books of information and in turn gather information from the people at these meetings," said Jerry Schober, superintendent of the memorial.

Members of the public who attended the meetings were able to suggest possible uses that could be placed at the site and, through informal straw polls, were asked how they felt about items listed in the booklets.

A key element of the park could be a Museum of American Culture, an idea that is being pushed by Sen. Paul Simon of Illinois, who was a U.S. representative when Congress began considering the expansion.

A feasibility study of the museum is being conducted now, Schober said. The institution would focus on the country's westward expansion and the ways in which the many cultures in the United States have impacted the country, he said.

Schober said the East St. Louis development also could include a 50-acre apartment complex for middle- and upper-income families.

East shore frontage was part of Eero Saarinen's original plan for the Arch more than 20 years ago. "Eero Saarinen mentioned that the park should be anchored on the east side of the Mississippi River to complement what had been planned for St. Louis," Schober said.

Though the expansion was discussed for years, serious efforts toward that end did not begin until after the election of President Ronald Reagan in 1980.

"Reagan felt that rather than becoming a complement to the total park idea, the east side phase was more intended as a rejuvenation of East St. Louis," Schober said.

A 20-member commission was authorized by Congress two years ago to gather public input on the project and come up with a development plan.

That panel includes five members of Reagan's cabinet and the secretary of the Smithsonian Institution. The remaining members — representing equally Illinois and Missouri — were recommended by Illinois Governor James Thompson, Missouri Governor John Ashcroft, East St. Louis Mayor Carl Officer and St. Louis Mayor Vincent C. Schoemehl Jr.

The commission now is completing the first year of a two-year timetable for coming up with a plan for the expansion, which is to be limited to 100 acres, Schober said.
